

MEETING POINT FUTURE

Discover one of Europe's most spectacular construction projects in the InfoTurmStuttgart.

FASCINATION CONSTRUCTION SITE

↳ You could not get any closer to the action. Our red InfoTurm-Stuttgart is located right in the heart of the construction site.

EXPERIENCE THE FUTURE

Far more than just a station: Our new exhibition in the InfoTurmStuttgart – “ITS” for short – has been designed to make the Stuttgart–Ulm Rail Project with its four stations and around 120 kilometres of tracks as well as related future topics conceivable and accessible. What are the opportunities the project can offer the city, the region, the state and Germany as a whole?

- ↳ FASCINATION CIVIL ENGINEERING
- ↳ MOBILITY AND URBANITY IN TRANSITION
- ↳ MODERN URBAN DEVELOPMENT
- ↳ STUTT GART AS A PILOT HUB
- ↳ HISTORY AND CURRENT DEVELOPMENTS

AN EXHIBITION FOR EVERYONE

Photos: Hochburg Design

↳ The exhibition is supplemented with a wide range of digital content provided via monitors, iPads and augmented reality. The media installation "The Cave" takes visitors on a virtual guided tour of the entire new station.

HAPTIC AND TANGIBLE

↳ Specially developed games and digital applications for children.

QUICK GUIDE: WHAT TO EXPECT
ON WHICH LEVEL?

WELCOME

4

Simply let your gaze wander over Stuttgart, the station and the construction site. The rooftop terrace offers more than just a good view of the construction work on the through station. The future station comes alive for you over its full length of 420 metres. A glimpse on the tablet is all it takes for you to experience the future in real time.

3

Meeting in a unique location: Almost 30 metres above excavation level, you have the possibility to advance your projects in the modern conference room.

2

Actively through the station and the region. What benefits will the rail project have for the S-Bahn? What does digital rail for Germany mean and why is Stuttgart a pilot hub? Steer your way through the future station and its surrounding area already today. You can use a joystick to move around the space-filling projection "The Cave" in real size and explore the future station.

1

The future station comes to life using augmented reality (AR). Experience how trains arrive and how you will be able to move around in the new station in the future. What does the new Stuttgart Rosenstein look like and why is the one connected to the other?
